

ASH AND RIDLEY CHURCH NEWS CHRISTMAS 2022

Well here we are again, preparing to celebrate Christmas.

It's on the same day every year yet it has the ability of surprising me when it seems to arrive out of the blue once again.

It has been another year marked by some major events – war in Europe, 70th Jubilee celebrations, the death of Queen Elizabeth II, a cost of living crisis and 3 prime ministers, to name but a few national issues. I am sure you can add a number of your own personal ones to the list.

With all this going on I find I am happy to be surprised by Christmas again.

Happy to tell the story of Jesus' birth in the little town of Bethlehem, seemingly unremarkable, to parents of no status, noticed only by the humble and the angels.

Happy to wonder at a God who came to live with us sharing in our joys and woes, showing us what it is to be fully human and live in a state of hope, peace, love and joy.

Happy to gather together as community again alongside family and friends in the familiar traditions and maybe some new ones learnt over the last few remarkable years.

Let's remember particularly this year that our happiness is not defined by 'things', but by the relationships we build around us; by the generosity of spirit we can show to our fellow human beings, looking out for the vulnerable and those who are struggling at this time.

You will find details of services and events to mark this season in this newsletter and I hope and pray that there is something or someone that draws you to a closer relationship with God bringing His light into your lives.

"The star went before them until it stopped above the place where the child was. When they saw the star, they were filled with joy." Matthew 2:9-10

The Great Invitation of Christmas ... is for us all to be redirected by the light of Jesus and be surprised and delighted by where it leads us.

May God's Blessing rest upon you this Christmas and beyond.

Rev'd Helen Reeves

Ash Saplings Sponsored Sleepover

A bunch of determined and hardy adults and children braved the cold and spent the night of Friday 2nd December in church, the delayed fundraising event from 2021. It was a super evening of games, food, films projected on the ceiling of the chancel, a visit from a certain jolly man in red and the children settled and snoozing by midnight. Well done and thank you to all who took part and to all who donated an amazing £897 was raised, this included those donations made last year. Apparently they would like another one!!

Warm Spaces

Beginning in the new year we will as church be running a 'warm space' on Thursday afternoon 2pm – 4.30pm from the Youth and Community Centre in New Ash Green. There will be a 'warm space' at the same time on a Tuesday hosted by another group. I NEED YOUR HELP!! Would you be interested in volunteering for this project – welcoming, chatting, introducing people to each other, offering refreshments, making cakes – or other ways that you can think of. Please drop me an email or have a chat with me if the answer is YES.

Reflections of a newcomer

We moved into this area last year, having lived for many years in Kingston. Our move, and events more generally in the wider world, have set me thinking about changes I have seen in my lifetime. The death of the Queen has prompted many broadcasts and newspaper articles about the changes seen during her reign. One suggestion was that people might find it difficult to change from 'God save the Queen' to 'God save the King', but that was the wording I learnt as a child. I remember that morning when I was in secondary school and all classes were interrupted and the whole school was summoned into the hall. We all wondered who had done what to have such an unprecedented change in routine. Then the headmaster addressed the whole school to tell us that the King had died and his daughter, then in Kenya, had become Queen. We were all sent home for the rest of the day.

The following year, thanks to the marvel of television, we could see the coronation. Like many families who did not possess their own television set we were invited to friends who did. I recall sitting in their living room watching the broadcast on a tiny black and white screen. It really was a demonstration of the latest technology, being able to see what was happening in other places. Before long the television pictures were in colour, and developments in telephony made it possible to speak with friends in other countries - even as far away as Australia.

As well as the scientific and technical changes, much else has changed since those days. I grew up in a Baptist family; we had Anglican relatives in a Devon seaside town whom we regularly visited on holiday. There were differences in worship. We often sang the same hymns, but the major division was that members of other denominations could not share in Communion in the Church of England. When I was a student at King's College London, an Anglican foundation, nonconformists were welcome to services in the college chapel, but not to participate in that central act of worship. I recall a sympathetic Anglican student friend, a keen advocate for his church, telling me 'you should join the Church of England, Brian, it has more denominations inside it than there are outside'. A few years later the C of E relaxed its strict rule and opened the table to fellow Christians. Together with numerous like-minded friends we can now join fully in worship without compromise. We appreciate other changes, like the greater variety of liturgy around the year, not tied exclusively to the Tudor prayer book, and greater lay participation than in our youth.

In more recent years, restricted by ill health and age, we needed to link with a church close to home, and it has been good to have been made welcome in the parish church.
